

54th ANNUAL MEETING

Thursday
November 14, 2013

Time: 6 PM

Light refreshments will be served.

Place:
The Conference Center
333 Westchester Avenue
White Plains

RSVP:

[https://app.etapestry.com/
onlineforms/WestchesterLibrarySystem/
annualmeeting.html](https://app.etapestry.com/onlineforms/WestchesterLibrarySystem/annualmeeting.html)

or Kate Meyer,
kmeyer@wlsmail.org
914-231-3226

Featuring Keynote Speaker

Bruce Nussbaum

Professor of Innovation and Design at Parsons The New School for Design

Since their inception, libraries have served as places that foster creativity. This creativity has come in many different forms—the written word, artistic impression, controversial scientific theories and even new inventions. In today’s digital world, the possibilities for engaging in creativity are more numerous than ever. How have—and can—public libraries use their position as centers of creativity to build community engagement, promote literacy and build a better future for all?

Come and be inspired by guest speaker Bruce Nussbaum, author of Creative Intelligence: Harnessing the Power to Create, Connect and Inspire. Mr. Nussbaum is the Professor of Innovation and Design at Parsons The New School for Design and founder of the Innovation & Design online channel IN: Inside Innovation. Join us for a lively discussion of Mr. Nussbaum’s ideas on how today’s public libraries can inspire creative intelligence and secure their place as centers of literacy and community engagement.

